introducing grish art...

grish art is a combination of graphic/web design, photography and art, which gives the perfect mix of creative ability and technical skills. Our team consists of industry experienced professionals who have joined together to offer you this holistic approach, from corporate identity through to the management of promotional events, grish art offers you the whole package and is guaranteed to get you noticed.

grish art understands the need to stand out from an ever-growing crowd. With extensive research into your ethos, objectives, positioning and competitors, grish art provides you with the individual attention required. We respond to your thoughts and needs as well as offering you our experience and above all creative innovation.

grish art offers the creation of design, print and web materials to promote your service or product. We have experience designing for charitable trusts, corporate clients and start-up businesses.

This portfolio offers a selection of work we have produced for our clients including leaflets, flyers and posters, brochures and annual reviews, websites and corporate identity. We can ensure maximum exposure with creative marketing and advertising concepts increasing your success through our design.

Please have a look through the portfolio and then contact us discuss your project, we look forward to hearing from you.
